

AutumnColor™

Digital Imaging

Dedicated to the printing needs of fine artists.

Featured Artist: Ron Rosenstock

We call Ron Rosenstock the "Julia Child of travel photography" because he was among the earliest pioneers in international travel geared specifically to the needs and interests of photographers. He's also one of AutumnColor's oldest clients.

Since 1967, Ron has led more than 200 tours to uncover unique photo opportunities from Ireland to Italy, New Zealand to Peru, Bhutan to Prague.

When he's not organizing and leading photo tours, Ron is creating photo DVD's and books. Among the DVD's to his credit are "Morocco: Land of Enchantment," and "Death Valley & the Valley of Fire," soon to be joined by his latest DVD, "Iceland, Land of Fire and Ice." His books include "Journeys," "Chioistro," photographs of Italy, and "Hymn to the Earth," which features Ron's photos along with the poetry of Gabriel Rosenstock.

Ron turns to AutumnColor for consistent, quality, meticulous color reproduction, our fine attention to detail and affordable prices.

After 40 years of printing my photographs in the darkroom, I switched to digital photography. What made the switch easy was discovering Mark Doyle and AutumnColor Digital Imaging. Using the latest technology, AutumnColor produces beautiful prints that are of incredibly high quality, archival and best of all, affordable. Mark's expert work results in superior prints that meet my standards and match what I had been accustomed to producing in the darkroom. Thanks to Mark and AutumnColor, switching from the darkroom to digital imaging has been stress-free. I'm concentrating on photography, producing far more quality images than ever before, and saving money at the same time! What could be better!

Ron Rosenstock

Ron's tours in 2010 include Morocco, Ireland, Venice and Death Valley. We at AutumnColor can't wait to see the great photos he'll bring back with him.

At AutumnColor, we aim to offer superior value in all our services. What's our definition of value?

Quality x Cost = Value

You want the very best quality photographic prints you can achieve. But at the same time, you don't want to overpay to get them.

So that we can offer you both competitive prices and high quality products, we constantly monitor our operation for quality and service at the same time we carefully control our costs. Compare our quality to anyone in the business. Now compare our prices, too.

We think you'll find that AutumnColor offers you a clearly superior blend of quality, service and price to give you the best bargain you'll find in quality digital imaging.

Just a Reminder: Pass It On
